INDEX TO VOLUME 14
NUMBERS 1, 2, 3, & 4

Author Index

Barnette, Edmund L., 202–211
Bowman, Robert L., 232–238
Bowman, Vicki E., 232–238
Caple, Richard B., 16–24
Carr, Jeffery J., 243–250
Childers, John H., Jr., 105–111, 226–231
Clark, Arthur J., 121–124
Clark, Janice N., 219–225
Couch, R. David, 105–111, 226–231
Cox, Patti L., 16–24
Crowley, Paul M., 173–175
DeLucia, Janice L., 232–238
Elliott, Glenda R., 131–140
Emerson, Shirley, 25–33
Engle, David, 75–83
Forester-Miller, Holly, 196–201
Holiman, Marjorie, 75–83
Horne, Arthur M., 67–74
Hulse-Killacky, Diana, 93–97
Humes, Charles W., 219–225
Korda, Lois J., 112–120
Lowery, Susan, 53–60
Martin, Sherri, 46–52
Mathews, Bernadette, 34–39
McBride, Martha C., 25–33
McClure, Bud A., 239–242
McNamara, Kathleen, 141–150, 211–218
Miller, Mark J., 170–172
Morran, D. Keith, 93–97
Nelson, Richard C., 151–157
Newman, William, 84–92
Palmo, Artis J., 84–92
Pancrazio, James J., 112-120
Privette, Gayle, 46–52
Rex, Toni, 84–92
Robertson, Dee, 34–39
Robison, Floyd F., 93–97
Tingle, Carroll M., 40–45
Unger, Robert, 151–157
Vacc, Nicholas A., 4–15
Wilcoxon, Cynthia W., 40–45
Wilcoxon, S. Allen, 40–45
Williams, James M., 170–172
Wise, Pamela Sharratt, 53–60
Zimpfer, David G., 93–104, 176–185, 243–250

Subject Index

ABAB designs, 93–97
Adolescent sucicide, prevention of, 34–39
Adult college students, 40–45
Advanced Gestalt therapy skills, 75–83
Alcohol treatment program, grief therapy with, 46–52
"Ask the Expert", 173–175
"Assistant-Coach" (AC) strategy, 170–172
Attraction to the group, 16–24
Cancer groups, 98–104
Career counseling in groups 243–250
Choice Awareness, 158–169
Client growth, 232–238
College students, 40–45, 84–92
College women, 211–218
Composition and selection criteria in group psychotherapy, 151–157
Consultation with gifted high school students, 219–225
Counseling group for adult college students, 40–45
Counselor growth, 232–238
Counselors and supervisors of groups, applying family supervision models, 53–60
Criteria for group psychotherapy, 151–157
Depressed and overweight college women, 211–218
Dieters/Dieting, 141–151
Effects of a growth group on counseling students' self-actualization, 202–210
Effects of structured learning time interval, 84–92
Enriching the Adult Student Environment (EASE), 40–45
Expectations of group members, 16–24
Facilitation of counselor and client growth, 232–238
Family and group modalities, similarities between, 53–60
Family supervision models, application to counselors and supervisors of groups, 53–60
Family therapy and group therapy, differences between, 226–312
Gazda, George, M., interview with, 131–140
Gestalt therapy, 75–83
Gifted high school students, 219–225

Grief therapy in an alcohol treatment program, 46–52
Group and family modalities, similarities between, 53–60
Group counseling, adult college students, 40–45; and consultation with gifted high school students, 219–225; myths/misconceptions, 105–111; overweight and depressed college women, 211–218; prevention of adolescent suicide, 34–39; questions, 121–124; skills, the learning of, 170–172
Group counselors who study their own groups, 93–97
Group experience, 16–24
Group member expectations, 16–24
Group metaphors, 239–242
Group program for repeat dieters, 141–150
Group psychotherapy, 151–157
Group structure, 16–24
Group supervision, 53–60
Group therapy and family therapy, differences between, 226–231
Group work, cancer treatment, 98–104; history of, 4–15, 67–74; publications, 176–185; research, 16–24, 84–97; women who were molested as children, 25–33
Groups for midlife career change, 243–250; persons who have cancer, 93–104
Growth groups with college students, 84–92, 202–210
Guidelines for training in advanced Gestalt therapy skills, 75–83
High school students, gifted, 219–225
History of group work, 4–15, 67–74, 131–140
Innovations in training, 75–83
Learning group counseling skills, 170–172
Loss and substance abuse, 46–52
Member attraction to the group, 16–24
Member expectations, 16–24
Member questions in group counseling, 121–124
Member satisfaction with the group experience, 16–24
Metaphors, 239–242
Midlife career change, 243–250
Misconceptions about group counseling, 105–111
Multiple baseline design, 93–97
Myths about group counseling, 105–111
Negative outcome in group practice, limitation of, 112–120
Ohlsen, Merle, interview with, 67–74
Outcome in group practice, 112–120
Overweight and depressed college women, 211–218
Parallel process in supervision and group counseling, 232–238
Patterson, C. H., interview with, 4–15
Persons who have cancer, groups for, 98–104
Prevention of adolescent suicide, 34–39
Publications in group work, 176–185
Questions in group counseling, 121–124
Relationships among group structure, expectations, attraction to group, and satisfaction with experience, 16–24
Repeat dieters, 141–150
Research in group work, 16–24, 84–97, 141–150
Satisfaction with the group experience, 16–24
Selection and composition criteria in group psychotherapy, 151–157
Self-actualization, 202–210
Sexual abuse of female children who are now adults, 25–33
Single-subject research designs for group counselors, 93–97
Small-group exercise, 158–169
Structured group program for repeat dieters, 141–150
Structured learning time interval, 84–92
Suicide, prevention of, 34–39
Supervision of groups, 53–60
Support group for adult college students, 40–45
Teaching group counseling skills, 170–172
Therapy skills, advanced Gestalt, 75–83
Training, 75–83
Women, who are overweight and depressed college students, 211–218; who were molested as children, 25–33
Working with groups, 25–33, 98–104
Yalom, Irvin, interview with, 196–201